Frankston Public Art
– powerful, meaningful
and playful sculptures
and historic markers
dotted in nature.

Frankston City's public artworks are nestled into nature, telling a unique story for everyone who finds them.

There are over 30 pieces to be discovered, from still works which encourage contemplation to 3D sculptures that call for playful exploration. Artists from Australia and across the globe have given Frankston a collection of bold, vibrant and powerful artworks which all contribute to a cumulative experience that connect Frankston to the world.

The City's art is designed to capture the attention and imaginations of everyone beckoning everyone to create their own art experience; even those who may not think art is their thing.

No story, no experience, no connection is the same. Choose the story you want to discover by using this map to locate the public artworks and visit discoverfrankston.com to read about each piece. Or download the Digital Walking Tours to listen to the stories of the artworks included in the Coastal Arts Discover Trail.
