SWEL – LOGICAL PROGRESSION HOLOGRAM PROJECTION WORK

Where
Net Focus IT window: 50 – 52 Wells Street, Frankston

Logical Progression reimagines graffiti lettering through motion and technology, blending projection mapping with 3D animation. Letters bend and morph on shifting canvases, transforming static walls into immersive, kinetic experiences that challenge graffiti's traditional perception.

IT'S BACK!

An explosion of colour and paint is about to bring Frankston's laneways and street alive once again during Frankston's Street Art Festival. From 17 to 23 March, nine world-renowned street artists will transform the city with stunning new murals and projections, adding to Frankston's ever-growing outdoor gallery. Immerse yourself in the creative energy with live mural painting, gallery takeovers, guided street art walking tours, and a city-wide celebration of art and culture. Wrap up the festivities at Block Party, a laneway takeover featuring live music, great vibes, and delicious food. After this year's efforts, the number of murals in Frankston will be over 100, making it a must-visit destination for street art lovers. Don't miss this incredible week of artistic transformation!
