PASPALEY

THE MOST BEAUTIFUL PEARLS IN THE WORLD

CHARLES DARWIN CENTRE | PASPALEY.COM

Dear Visitors

Welcome to Darwin, the gateway to Northern Australia. I hope that you take time to enjoy our unique and enviable tropical lifestyle and experience for yourself the many people and places that make Darwin a great place to live.

The Larrakia people are the traditional custodians of the land and waters of the greater Darwin region and I would encourage you to explore and enjoy Aboriginal culture during your stay. Please take time to discover the unique history of Darwin and the Territory - visit the ancient Aboriginal rock art in Kakadu, discover what happened when Darwin was bombed in World War II and then flattened by Cyclone Tracy in 1974. Darwin is a city that has rebuilt itself several times. This is one of the reasons we are such a vibrant and resilient community.

I hope that you will find Darwin to be the friendly, cosmopolitan city it is known for, where locals and visitors enjoy our world-famous markets, festivals, cafés and thriving arts scene. If you're active, you can make the most of our outdoor lifestyle, with world class fishing, sailing, camping, cycling and walking in our stunning natural environment. Take advantage of the fact that we are on the doorstep of World Heritage wilderness areas.

Make sure you take the time to chat with our friendly locals and volunteer Ambassadors, and ask them about their favourite things to do. You'll soon discover why the Top End captures the hearts of so many who come here.

During your stay, if someone provides you with an excellent tourist experience, please nominate them for a Tourism Top End Super Deeds award. You can fill out the form at the back of this book, or nominate via email, Facebook or Twitter.

I hope you make the most of all the unique, diverse and exciting things to do in Darwin and the Top End of Australia. Be safe, and happy travels!

The Hon. Kon Vatskalis JP
Lord Mayor of Darwin

Top End Climate

The Dry Season (May to October)

This is traditionally the most popular time for visitors to explore the many attractions of the Top End region. A major factor being the cooler daytime temperatures (ranging from a very pleasant 27°C - 32°C). Lower humidity levels at this time of the year, make perfect conditions for outdoor activities and exploring the many attractions of the Top End region.

The Top End's Tropical Summer (November to April)

During the months from November to April, visitors can expect monsoonal rains during late afternoon or overnight. During this period flooding can occur which can restrict access to parts of the region. While weather conditions at this time of year can restrict travel to some areas, the Wet season is a stunning time to see the Top End. Waterfalls tumble, skies host incredible light shows and the landscape turns a lush green.

Does the Wet Affect Tours and Accessibility?

A misconception about the wet season is that it rains continuously - not so! When it rains, an average storm might only last 25-45 minutes. Late night storms are welcome, providing truly amazing light shows unrivalled by any man-made pyrotechnics. Visitors will often talk about the unique experience of witnessing a typical Top End storm.

The wet season offers visitors the opportunity to see this vast region during its most fertile and dramatic cycle. Tours and attractions operate year round within the majority of destinations across the region including Litchfield and Kakadu National Parks. However, due to restricted road access, some destinations can close seasonally between December and May. Major attractions like Wangi Falls in Litchfield National Park are normally accessible in the wet, but swimming may close due to excessive rainfall which can cause dangerous conditions. See website for more details.

nt.gov.au/driving/safety/check-road-conditions

Dehydration

Visitors should be aware of our climate and its effect on the body. Water is the body's cheapest and most effective cooling agent and in our Top End climate it is essential to consume sufficient water to prevent dehydration. If you're active (eg. walking, cycling, climbing, etc.) you'll need to make sure you consume additional water at regular intervals. In order to maintain an adequate level of hydration, drink at least eight glasses of water a day.

Should bushfires be reported?

In the early dry season bushfires in the Top End do not need to be reported unless they are a threat to property or land values. Many fires have been intentionally lit in order to manage land. Bushfires in the later months however, August-November, can be reported by contacting Bushfires NT on 8922 0844.

If you encounter a bushfire while driving and if there is a lot of smoke:

- Turn on your headlights
- Slow down and be aware that there could be people, vehicles, large trucks and livestock on the road ahead
- Follow directions of police and firefighters if present and if you cannot see clearly, pull off the road, stop your vehicle and wait until the smoke clears.

When lighting a campfire you should always:

- Clear a four metre radius around the fire of all flammable material
- Ensure that the fire is attended at all times
- Ensure that the fire can be completely extinguished with water or soil.

Darwin boasts an excellent network of cycle and walking tracks offering spectacular ocean views and an excellent means of exploring the city and outer suburbs. Visit WWII historic sites, enjoy stunning sunsets, secluded picnic spots, clifftop outlooks and coastal nature reserves.

Things to be aware if you plan to explore on foot:

- Be sure to carry plenty of drinking water
- Wear a hat, sunglasses, sunscreen and insect repellent
- Wear good, solid walking shoes and appropriate clothing
- Carry a map of the area
- Follow advice from guides
- Stick to walking tracks and take notice of signs at all times

Entering Aboriginal Land

If you're planning to visit Aboriginal land during your stay in the Top End you must obtain a travel permit before entering.

When visiting Aboriginal land and communities in the more remote areas it is sometimes necessary to join an organised tour with one of our many specialised 4WD Safari Operators.

Those wishing to enter Aboriginal lands on their own must apply in writing to the relevant Aboriginal Land Councils. For further information contact:

The Northern Land Council

Driving in the Top End

One of the most popular ways to travel and explore the Top End is by self-drive vehicle. While the Territory offers an excellent road system, care must be taken at all times due to our vast distances and varying road conditions. Here are some hints to help you enjoy your drive through the Top End.

International Drivers

Throughout Australia, vehicles are right-hand drive and use the left-hand side of the road. If you're planning on driving during your visit, remember - before departing for Australia you must ensure that your driver's licence is valid. If your licence is not in English you will need to carry an International Driver's Licence.

Seat Belts

By law, the wearing of seat belts by both driver and passengers is mandatory. It is the driver's responsibility to ensure that all passengers 'belt up'. Penalties apply.

Driver Fatigue

Driving for long distances can cause fatigue, one of the most common causes of accidents in the Top End. As our distances are so vast, it is important to STOP and REST at least every two hours for your own and your passengers' safety.

Fuel Availability

Some of the more remote service stations have restricted operating hours and limited credit card facilities. In addition, fuels such as LPG are not always available so please always ensure to plan well and check ahead.

Road Trains

You'll be amazed at the length of the road trains travelling throughout the Territory, some up to three trailers or 50 metres in length. When overtaking always allow at least 1 kilometre of clear road ahead to be able to pass safely.

Dirt Roads

To avoid accidents when driving on dirt roads always be aware that dust can obscure your vision, so always stop and wait for dust to settle before proceeding with your journey.

Unfenced Roads

Many of our main roads are unfenced, so wandering stock or wildlife can create safety hazards. It's best to avoid driving at dawn, dusk or at night to reduce the risk of hitting one of these animals.

DON'T TAKE A CHANCE!

If you're heading off on a long car journey make sure you are carrying sufficient fuel. Some of the more remote service stations have restricted hours and limited card facilities.

So ALWAYS plan ahead!

FOOD AND ENTERTAINMENT

The Top End of Australia is governed more by the weather than almost anywhere on earth.

A glorious dry season of cloudless skies is followed by a spectacular wet season of life-giving rain and gorgeous sunsets.

Not surprisingly, the supply of local produce - everything from the world's best prawns to the world's best mangoes - is dictated by the rhythm of the rain and sun. Tourism Top End wants visitors to know more about the fantastic fish, fruit and vegetables on offer, and that it's produced in a well-managed, sustainable way.

The majority of the restaurants and pubs in the Northern Territory now use local and fresh ingredients to serve excellent food.

Fruit and veg

Fruit and vegetables are produced throughout the year, but the peak season is April-November. The Top End fruit scene is dominated by mangoes, which can be used as a conventional fruit or in salads or in drinks or marvellous cut into sticks and dipped in chilli soy sauce. Kids love ripe mangoes topped with ice cream. Beautiful jackfruit also thrive in the Top End.

There's so much more on sale in the shops and markets: watermelon, bell and wax apples, guava, rambutan, limes, carambola, soursop, bananas, grapefruit, star apple and the delightfully named hogg plum. As well as the high-end dragon fruit which is popular around Chinese New Year in February. Try a pummelo (Pomelo), which is peeled and eaten segment by segment; or make cakes and bread from paw paw, which is high in fibre and vitamins.

The dry season is the best time of the year for the so-called Big Five veggies - six varieties of Asian melon, snake beans, okra, Lebanese and continental cucumbers and sweet Italian basil. But there is also amaranth and Ceylon spinach, galangal and wax gourd, eggplant and shallots, Vietnamese mint and Thai brinjal, Chinese white cabbage and lemon grass, yam bean and angled luffa, spring onions and Indian mustard, Chinese chives and garland chrysanthemum. Some of the names are undoubtedly exotic - demonstrating the Top End's amazingly rich cultural diversity.

Seafood

The Top End's seafood is recognised around the world as second to none - barramundi, snapper, jewfish, prawns, mud crabs ... all are caught in the most environmentally friendly way possible.

The commercial barramundi fishing season is February - September with fresh, wild caught barramundi available at the Fish Markets and at the local restaurants. The banana prawn season is April -June and the season for tiger prawns August-November.

Where to shop

Top End fruit and veg can be bought in every market, greengrocer and supermarket. The main farmers' markets are Rapid Creek and Malak Marketplace; this is the time and place to buy lovely produce direct from the producers. But don't forget the other markets, such as Parap, Fred's Pass, Nightcliff and Berry Springs. Seafood can be bought at all wet fish shops and supermarkets throughout the Top End and are served in most restaurants and pubs.

WWII TOURISM IN DARWIN

During WWII, Darwin became the first mainland site in Australia to come under direct attack from the enemy when it was the target of over 64 Japanese air raids, causing huge devastation and many civilian casualties. The Top End played a key strategic role in the defence of Northern Australia and much of its unique military heritage is well preserved. Gun emplacements, oil storage tunnels, bunkers, military airstrips and lookout posts are scattered in and around the city. Most are easily accessible and many are free of charge. Visitors are encouraged to explore this fascinating (and often overlooked) chapter in Australia's history.

East Point Military Reserve

Originally established as Darwin's main defence point to protect precious oil stores at Stokes Hill Wharf, 9.2 inch gun emplacements, anti-submarine boom net, ammunition magazines, lookout towers, communication rooms, searchlight emplacements and command posts still stand in East Point Reserve. Free Entry.

Location: Eight kilometres from Darwin CBD along East Point Rd.

Darwin Military Museum

Featuring a unique display of WWII memorabilia and wartime stories, the museum boasts fantastic relics, an extensive photograph collection, displays of war instruments and even restored guns constructed for use during the conflict. Entry fee applies.

Location: Approximately eight kilometres from Darwin along East Point Road.

Charles Darwin National Park

This area was part of the network of military sites established during the development of Darwin as Australia's northern defence line during WWII. The site has recently been restored to include an interpretive display outlining Darwin's role in the Pacific War.

Gates open 8am & close 7pm. Free Entry.

Location: Approximately seven kilometres from Darwin along Tiger Brennan Drive.

WWII Oil Storage Tunnels

The WWII tunnels were constructed in 1943 to protect Darwin's oil supplies. Photographic displays pay tribute to the men and women who served in Darwin during WWII. Closed December 1st - 27th and New Year's Day. Entry fee applies.

Location: Kitchener Drive, Darwin Waterfront.

Adelaide River War Cemetery

The only war cemetery in the Top End, this is the resting place for 434 service men and women and 63 civilians, all of whom died during the Japanese air raids. Situated on the north east banks of the Adelaide River, this special site is beautifully maintained amidst tranquil gardens. Free Entry.

Location: Approximately 120 kilometres south of Darwin on the Stuart Highway.

Strauss Airstrip

The site, including a new information shelter and life-size cut-out plane images, was an important landing strip used by American, British and Australian pilots involved in combat over Darwin and Fenton. Free Entry.

Location: Approximately 45 kilometres south of Darwin along the Stuart Highway.

Darwin Aviation Museum

From the WWII Spitfire to the B52 bomber, the Museum boasts an impressive presentation of aircraft and graphic displays depicting the Northern Territory's long standing involvement in aviation history. Entry fee applies.

Location: Approximately 13 kilometres south of Darwin along the Stuart Highway. Be sure to check out the Bombing of Darwin display!

USS Peary Memorial / USAAF Memorial

Overlooking Darwin Harbour the memorial is dedicated to the Officers and Crew of the USS Peary, which was attacked and sunk during the first Japanese air-raid on Darwin. One of the guns later salvaged from the vessel now serves as the memorial to those lost in the action. Also honoured here is Lieutenant Robert Buel, a United States Army Airforce pilot who lost his life on 15 February 1942 in a heroic attack on Japanese aircraft on a bombing raid over Darwin. Free Entry.

Location: Bicentennial Park / The Esplanade.

The Cenotaph / War Memorial

Overlooking the Harbour in Bicentennial Park, the Cenotaph is Darwin's official memorial to members of the armed services, rescue services and civilian personnel who gave their lives in

1. The Tree of Knowledge / The Beagle Bells

The banyan tree ficus virens, a species revered by Buddhists worldwide as the 'Tree of Knowledge', is strikingly represented behind the current Civic Centre on Harry Chan Avenue in Darwin. This ancient beauty has been a locally-famous landmark throughout the town's history. Adjacent to the tree is the HMS Beagle Ship Bell Chime - a musical instrument linking the City of Darwin to Charles Darwin's voyage on the HMS Beagle from 1831-1836.

2. Christ Church Cathedral

The original cathedral built in 1902 was devastated by Cyclone Tracy. The cathedral you will see today, is a totally modern design built in 1975 incorporating part of the ruins of the original structure.

3. Browns Mart Theatre

Intended as a mining exchange when built in the 1880s, this stone cottage has served many purposes throughout the years. In recent years the building has been converted for use as a community theatre and concert venue.

4. The Old Town Hall

Conservation techniques are used to slow the decay of these pre-Cyclone Tracy ruins. Along with Browns Mart and Christchurch Cathedral, the simple, rectangular building erected in 1883 during a mining boom created a human-scaled streetscape of stone. In WWII, it was used for naval administration and later as an art gallery.

5. The Old Courthouse and Police Station

Built in 1884 for the South Australian Government. The courthouse adjoined the police station with a cellblock in the back. The Navy used these buildings from WWII until the Christmas Day of 1974 cyclone disaster.

6. Government House

Once known as The Residency this is an 1883 stone replacement of a timber structure built 13 years earlier which suffered a debilitating white ant attack. Verandahs with louvres providing the main living area, encircle the building. Government House is open to the public at certain times during the year.

7. NT Parliament House and NT Library

The NT Parliament House is a uniquely beautiful building standing on a site rich in Territory history. Open to the public. Enquiries phone: (08) 8946 1434. Parliament House is also the location of the Northern Territory Library housing the most comprehensive range of historical and contemporary NT documentary material in the world.

8. The Cenotaph / War Memorial

The Cenotaph is Darwin's official memorial to members of the armed services, rescue services and civilian personnel who gave their lives in the service of their country in time of conflict.

9. USS Peary Memorial / USAAF Memorial

Located on the Esplanade overlooking Darwin Harbour is the site of the memorial dedicated to the Officers and Crew of the USS Peary, which was attacked and sunk during the first air attack on Darwin by the Japanese during World War II. One of the guns salvaged from the vessel now serves as a memorial to all those lost in the action.

10. B.A.T. House - Lyons Cottage

Constructed in 1925 to house staff from the British and Australian Telegraph Company. Following WWII the cottage was home to the Mayor, John Lyons. The building is now Aboriginal Bush Traders.

11. Old Admiralty House

This tropical-style elevated building once housed North Australia's naval commander. This is one of the relatively few buildings to escape damage by Cyclone Tracy. The building is now the Char Restaurant.

12. Victoria Hotel - The VIC

Called the North Australian Hotel when it was built in 1894, the 'Vic' on Smith Street Mall is a survivor of every cyclone and bombing raid that the elements and man have thrown at it (currently closed).

13. Commercial Bank

Only the colonnade from the original 1893 'Stone Bank' now survives, incorporated into the Paspaley Pearls building. The 'Stone Bank' was so nicknamed because the Commercial Bank of Australia had chosen to build in local stone, to counter, the 'Tin Bank' was erected by a nearby competitor.

14. Star Village

Built before WWII as one of Darwin's first cinemas, the Star Village is now a modern shopping arcade and alfresco dining area which still retains that early Territory feel.

15. Chinese Temple and Museum

The present Temple building was erected after the original Temple built in 1887 was destroyed by Cyclone Tracy in 1974. Adjacent to the Temple, the Museum depicts, in text and pictures, a history of the Chinese in the Northern Territory from the 1880s to the end of World War II.

16. World War II Oil Storage Tunnels

This WWII relic is a network of five steel-lined concrete tunnels built for storage of the Navy's oil reserves after the Japanese bombed Darwin's above ground facilities. Tunnel 5 is open to the public and includes a fascinating display of photographs depicting life in wartime Darwin.

17. Stokes Hill Wharf

The Wharf area still incorporates many of its historical landmarks which include the Travellers Walk, the Steam Pump House (now renovated for use as The Jetty Restaurant) all with a story to tell.

18. Myilly Point Heritage Precinct

National Trust (NT) listed Myilly Point Heritage Precinct, at Burnett Place on the outskirts of the city, comprises four pre-WWII houses built circa 1938/39 for top level public servants. Burnett House is open to the public Monday to Saturday 10 till 1. (Subject to seasonal closures).

LITCHFIELD NATIONAL PARK

Entrance to this fascinating 143 square kilometre area is just 115 kilometres south of Darwin and 268 kilometres north of Katherine. The natural features of Litchfield National Park, monsoon rainforest, stunning waterfalls, termite mounds, weather-eroded sandstone outcrops and historic ruins, attract over a quarter of a million visitors each year.

The park is historically home to the Aboriginal Wagait people. The Finniss Exploration was the first European connection within the area and the park was named after Frederick Henry Litchfield, a member of that expedition. For 75 years until the mid 20th Century, the area was the centre for tin and copper mining. It then fell under a pastoral lease until designated as a national park in 1986. All major attractions are readily accessible being linked by sealed roads. Access to the more remote natural attractions requires a four-wheel drive vehicle, with access during the dry season only.

Crystal clear swimming holes and pleasant bushwalking trails make the park a favourite among Darwin locals and visitors alike. Meals and refreshments are available within the park at the Wangi Falls Centre.

For fact sheets on the Park, please visit nt.gov.au/leisure/parks-reserves/find-a-park-to-visit/litchfield-national-park

Termite Mounds

A major attraction seen on driving into the park are the many Magnetic Termite and Cathedral Termite Mounds found on the floodplains and Savannah open woodlands, standing up to two metres in height in a north-south orientation. The configuration acts as a built-in temperature control mechanism, allowing the least possible surface area to be exposed to the heat of the sun.

Buley Rockhole

A series of small waterfalls and rockholes that provide the perfect site to simply cool off and relax. For the bushwalker the Florence Creek Walk leads from Buley Rockhole to Florence Falls. Toilet facilities available.

Florence Falls

A spectacular double waterfall set amongst monsoon rainforest. There is a 1km walking trail or 160 steps through rain-forest to take you to the base of the falls, but if you don't feel like walking all the way a nearby viewing platform is ideal for sightseeing and photography. The falls has a campground with showers and toilet facilities. Camping fees apply.

Tolmer Falls

The lookout to view these dramatic falls is located 400 metres from the car park. There is no access to the gorge below as it is home to protected rare species of bats, the Orange Horseshoe Bat and the Ghost Bat. However, the Tolmer Creek Walk (1.6km) leads from the Lookout along Tolmer Creek. Note: No swimming or camping permitted at this location.

Greenant Creek to Tjaetaba Falls

Allow 1.5 hours for this three kilometre return walk. Picnic tables near the creek provide a good place to take a break before taking the climb to the top of Tjaetaba Falls. At the top, cool off in the deep pools above the falls. The falls and area below are an Aboriginal sacred site - swimming downstream is prohibited. Toilet facilities available - no camping.

Walker Creek

Allow two hours for this 3.5 kilometre return walk. The trail leads to a shared picnic area with the opportunity for a cooling swim in a crystal clear pool. Camping spots are available along the trail - these must be booked on the reservation board.

Bamboo Creek Tin Mine

Easily accessed, just a short walk from the car park to the ruins of the old tin mine. Tin was mined here on a small scale from 1905, however adverse conditions of transportation and unfavourable wet season rains brought about the closure of the mine in the 1950s.

Wangi Falls

The most popular because of its easy access. Information is provided near the car park. An interpretive walk which commences near the pool provides an opportunity for photography. Wangi has a camping ground with all amenities including toilets, showers and free gas BBQs in designated areas and waterfalls surrounding a cool freshwater swimming hole. Meals and refreshments are available from the café at the Wangi Falls Centre. Camping fees apply.

Surprise Creek Falls

Accessible by four-wheel drive only. A short walk through a shady monsoon forest leads to a large tranquil pool. A little further, a couple of round rock pools sunk into the rock face towards the start of these small but pleasant falls. A great cooling-off spot after a walk. Camping fees apply. Toilet facilities only. Closed over the wet season.

The Lost City

Accessible by 4WD only (during the dry season, May to October) the impressive site known as 'The Lost City', reminiscent of the ruins of some lost civilisation, is a formation of sandstone blocks and majestic pillars formed and weathered by the elements. The site is some eight kilometres off the main Litchfield Park Road. No camping.

Blyth Homestead Ruins

Blyth Homestead is located just off the Sandy Creek Road. Within the park are the ruins of the old homestead built in 1929 by the Sergeant family. The homestead was eventually abandoned in the 1960s and is now preserved as a popular visitor attraction. No camping. Closed over the wet season.

Tjaynera Falls/Sandy Creek Falls

Nestling in an open valley luxuriant with paperbarks, the falls can be accessed by taking the 1.7 kilometre walking trail. After your walk enjoy the usually uncrowded plunge pool. The falls are nine kilometres from the southern access track accessible by four-wheel drive only. Toilet and shower facilities. Camping fees apply. Closed over the wet season.

Cascades

A year-round waterhole suitable for swimming, features an all-weather access road to a carpark, grassland viewing platforms and a walking trail from the picnic area to the top of Cascades. Toilet facilities available.

Bushwalking - The Tabletop Track

Experience the isolation of the Top End on this long-distance bushwalk. The 39 kilometre circuit is suitable for experienced, fit and well-prepared bushwalkers willing to carry supplies (including water) and camp with minimal facilities. The Track is accessed via one of several link walks which connect to the track at Florence Falls, Greenant Creek, Wangi Falls and Walker Creek. These link walks may be used to take shorter walks on sections of the main Tabletop Track.

Bush walkers should advise someone of their intended route and expected return time. It is recommended that you carry a detailed topographic map of the area 'Australia's Northern Territory Litchfield National Park'. Copies of the map are available from Tourism Top End and the BP Service Station in Batchelor. Closed between October and June for the wet season and during early dry season for fuel reduction burning. Camping fees apply.

ADELAIDE RIVER AND BATCHELOR

The townships of Adelaide River and Batchelor are steeped in history, from the early Chinese market gardens and military presence during WWII, to the discovery of uranium and mining at Rum Jungle. The area was originally inhabited by the Kungarakana and Warai Aboriginal clans - the first Europeans to travel through the area were members of the Goyder survey expedition in 1869. The first settlement was a base for workers on the construction of the Overland Telegraph Line, established in 1870.

Batchelor Township lies just 100 kilometres south of Darwin. Goyder's survey party passed through the area in 1869 and in 1874 a roadhouse and the Rum Jungle Hotel were constructed on the supply route. The present township stands on a section of land which was part of a demonstration farm established in 1912 by Mr. E.L. Batchelor.

The area began to flourish in 1949 with the discovery of uranium by John (Jack) Michael White. 1952 saw the expansion of the town as it became home for workers employed at the Rum Jungle Uranium Mine (White's Mine), Australia's first uranium mine and one of the greatest economic influences on the subsequent development of the Top End. Mining operations ceased in the early 1970's and Batchelor came under the control of the Northern Territory Administration. Batchelor Institute of Indigenous Tertiary Education, in the centre of town, originally occupied the single men's quarters of the mining company.

Adelaide River Township situated on the Stuart Highway 112 kilometres south of Darwin, offers a warm welcome to travellers. The township came to prominence following completion of construction of the Overland Telegraph Line, followed by a hotel, police outpost and railway station. The town became a popular overnight stopover for travellers and prospectors en-route to Pine Creek following the discovery of gold in 1871.

From 1939, with the build-up of WWII military activity, the town took on a major role as the location for a huge military base, with the 119 Australian General Hospital, army camps and thousands of service personnel stationed in the town and surrounding areas. Following the bombing of Darwin in 1942, Australian and American military headquarters were relocated from Darwin to the Adelaide River township. The town is now the site of the third-largest war cemetery in Australia, the resting place for some 63 civilians and 434 service personnel.

WILDLIFE AND WETLANDS REGION

The Wildlife & Wetland Region encompasses Mary River National Park, Adelaide River, Fogg Dam Conservation Reserve and Djukbinj National Park. Many believe the vast wetlands of the Mary River are the most beautiful in the Top End and home to an extensive variety of birdlife, some of the biggest barramundi and the largest concentration of saltwater crocodiles in the world.

Lagoons, canals and billabongs make up the waterways of the wetlands of the Mary River, which runs both north and south of the Arnhem Highway. Mary River National Park incorporates many destinations worthy of exploration. Rockhole, Couzens Lookout, Brian Creek Monsoon Forest Walk, Jimmy Creek Monsoon Forest, Point Stuart Coastal Reserve, Shady Camp, Mistake Creek, Corroboree Billabong and Hardies Four Wheel Drive Track.

The Mary River is an angler's dream. Popular fishing spots include Shady Camp within the national park, as well as Corroboree Billabong to the west of the national park. To book a fishing tour on the wetlands call Tourism Top End 1300 138 886. For the independent traveller, small boats can be hired in Darwin, Point Stuart, Shady Camp, Corroboree Billabong, Rockhole Billabong and Mary River. Guided boat tours are available out of Corroboree Billabong, Point Stuart and Mary River - but remember, be sure to book early!

Touring the Region

Its easy touring the Mary River Region by conventional two-wheel drive vehicle during the dry season even on the unsealed roads. However during the wet season, a four-wheel drive vehicle will open up greater opportunities for you to explore some of the more inaccessible natural attractions. If the idea of driving off-road is not for you, tour companies operating ex-Darwin and Mary River provide a service to relieve you of any driving concerns to enjoy the wonders of the region. Information on vehicle hire with unlimited kilometres and tours in the region is available from Tourism Top End call 1300 138 886 or email info@tourismtopend.com.au

Corroboree Billabong

Take a leisurely drive from Darwin to Corroboree Billabong, an amazing location which is home to the highest concentration of saltwater crocodiles in the world and home to wild buffalo, an abundance of birdlife and the elusive barramundi. Experience the beautiful wetlands on a guided cruise or try your luck at catching a 'barra' with a selection of fishing tours or boat hire available. Corroboree Billabong is located 109 kilometres east of Darwin off the Arnhem Highway. Dry season only.

Djukbinj National Park

Djukbinj National Park is located off the Arnhem Highway near Leaning Tree Lagoon turnoff. Being a part of the Marrakai Plains, the park contains a portion of the catchment area and drainage for the Adelaide River. Consequently, the abundance of water year-round assures the park's importance as a favourite feeding and roosting site for a wide variety of waterbirds including magpie geese, egrets and brolgas. Open daily. Free entry. Visitors should be aware that the road to the park may close during the wet season.

Fogg Dam Conservation Reserve

68 kilometres east of Darwin off the Arnhem Highway, Fogg Dam is one of several parks in the lower Adelaide River catchment that provide a haven for wildlife amongst Darwin's developing rural fringe.

These wetlands have international significance because of their beauty, natural eco systems and cultural significance.

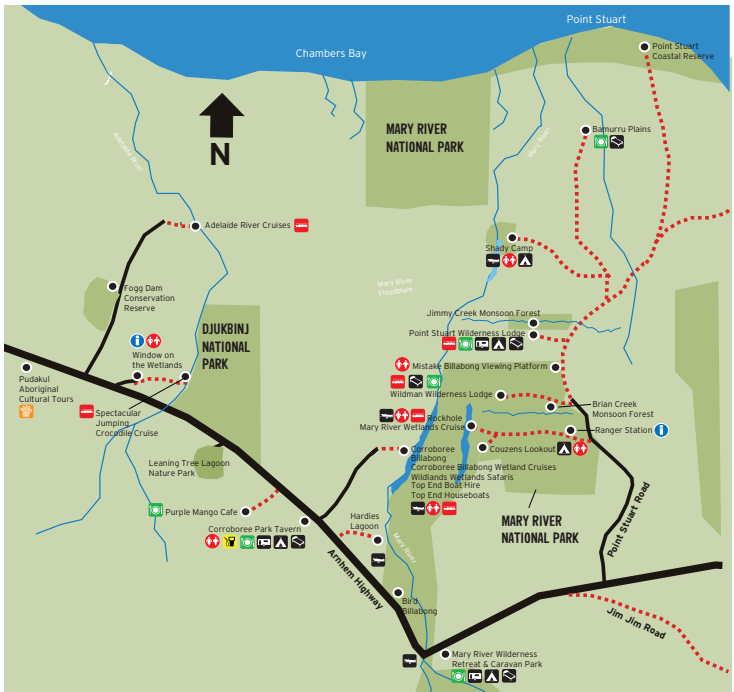

The Limilngan-Wulna Aboriginal people are the traditional owners of the area and their ancestors' Dreamtime journeys are recorded in the landscape. Tel: (08) 8988 8009 Free Entry.

Shady Camp

A popular fishing spot for those hoping to hook a mighty barramundi! A barrage here prevents the saltwater of the Arafura Sea from entering the freshwater of the Mary River system. Upstream of the barrage offers freshwater lagoon fishing for barra and tarpon, downstream is tidal river and the chance to lure some huge barra. Boat ramp and dinghy hire facilities, camp ground, picnic and toilet facilities. Camping fees apply. Access via Point Stuart Road off the Arnhem Highway

Window on the Wetlands

Situated at Beatrice Hill, Arnhem Highway 65 kilometres from Darwin. Built in 1994, this interpretive centre provides an insight into this ecological region of the Adelaide River Wetlands. With informative and interactive displays, the centre provides detailed information on the wetlands, the variety of birdlife and animal groups it supports and historical details of local Aboriginal and European settlement. Located on the crest of Beatrice Hill, the Centre's observation deck offers stunning panoramic views across the wetlands and the opportunity to witness the Top End's spectacular sunsets. Free Entry.

KAKADU NATIONAL PARK

World Heritage listed Kakadu National Park, covering almost 20,000 km, is a place of contrasting landscapes and diverse habitats. Saltwater crocodiles lurk in freshwater billabongs studded with lotus lilies. Rugged cliffs of the Arnhem Land escarpment hide deep sandstone gorges and pockets of monsoon rainforest. Waterfalls cascade into pools fringed with paperbarks and pandanus.

Kakadu's Aboriginal owners are happy and proud to share this special place with you. Come and discover our World Heritage culture and natural landscapes in Australia's largest national park. Experience Kakadu's rich 65,000 year old culture by joining a ranger guided walk through ancient rock art galleries where Dreaming ancestors, Rainbow Serpent and Namarrgon (Lightning Man), are etched into walls. Indigenous guides share traditional stories while you try your hand at weaving and painting. Learn about Indigenous history and kinship at Warradjan Cultural Centre. ARNHEM LAND

Arnhem Land, one of the last pristine areas in the world, comprises 91,000 square kilometres of unspoiled wilderness located in the middle of Australia's Northern Coast, bordered by Kakadu National Park, the Arafura Sea and the Gulf of Carpentaria. The region is blessed with wild coastlines, deserted islands, rivers teeming with fish, rainforests, soaring escarpments and savannah woodland. The park protects wetlands of international importance and provides a habitat for abundant wildlife including crocodiles, dugong, nesting turtles and migratory birds.

Its small population is predominantly Aboriginal people, whose traditional culture remains largely intact. For travellers seeking to experience authentic traditional culture, the region is an exciting destination with many tailored indigenous tours on offer. Access to Arnhem Land is restricted and only selected tour operators who have earned the trust of traditional landowners may bring visitors in. It is therefore advised to travel to Arnhem Land on a tour.

There are many areas of historic significance including the ruins of an early European colony at Victoria Settlement in Garig Gunak Barlu National Park on the secluded Cobourg Peninsula and the Black Point Cultural Centre displaying Aboriginal, Macassan and European histories of the area.

The town of Maningrida, on the north coast of Arnhem Land, is famous for its indigenous art. Gunbalanya (Oenpelli), one of the first stops east of Kakadu National Park, is an Aboriginal community where indigenous artists gather at the Injalak Art and Craft Centre. Note: Day permit required.

The town of Nhulunbuy, located on the Gove Peninsula approximately 1,043 kilometres east of Darwin, is a major service centre providing accommodation and supplies and offers spectacular beaches and great fishing opportunities.

West Arnhem Land - The Cobourg Peninsula

West Arnhem Land - The Cobourg Peninsula

The remote and rugged Cobourg Peninsula is accessible during the dry season by four-wheel drive from Oenpelli via Jabiru or a year round short charter flight from Darwin. On arrival it is essential you report to the Ranger Station. Parks and Wildlife Commission restricts the number of vehicles travelling through Arnhem Land and it is necessary to apply for a permit well in advance of your trip. For information call The Northern Land Council: (08) 8979 0244 or www.nlc.org.au

The region is reputed to offer some of the best fishing in the world with charters to suit individual needs, from an easy half day to extended island safaris. The waters abound with Spanish mackerel, giant trevally, queenfish and coral trout and in the tidal creeks and estuaries, barramundi, mangrove jack and threadfin salmon await the serious anglers. A wonderland of white sandy beaches, azure waters, lush vegetation, temperatures between 28° and 30° and plenty of cooling sea breezes make this the first choice for serious anglers.

The Peninsula is the perfect destination for hiking, birdwatching and a great opportunity to photograph this truly unique landscape. Garig Gunak Barlu National Park, Northern Australia's first flora and fauna protection reserve and the surrounding Cobourg Marine Park, provides an ideal habitat for many thousands of waterfowl and other bird species.

East Arnhem Land - The Gove Peninsula

East Arnhem Land - The Gove Peninsula

East Arnhem Land is one of the last wilderness areas on earth, yet all services can be found on the Gove Peninsula in the town of Nhulunbuy. Around 710 kilometres by road from Katherine and home to about 4,000 people, the town was built on a special-purpose lease by Nabalco in 1971 to service personnel employed at its bauxite mine. Despite initial concern from the Yolngu people, the town is now an intricate part of the region, making it an ideal base from which to explore.

The traditional owners of this land, the Yolngu people, have lived in this region for over 40,000 years with recognised land and marine estates. The clans living throughout Arnhem Land hunt fish, bush animals and seasonal bush foods, retaining their traditional cultural and spiritual links to the area.

Travelling to the Region by Road - Dry Season Access Only

To reach the Gove Peninsula by road (accessible by four-wheel drive only) take the Central Arnhem Highway. As this requires crossing many Yolngu clan lands, a travel permit is required. Visitors planning to make the trip must first obtain a permit. Contact the Northern Land Council in Nhulunbuy on (08) 8987 2602 or in Darwin on (08) 8920 5100 or www.nlc.org.au

Travelling to the Region by Air

Airnorth operates daily jet services to and from Gove from Cairns and Darwin with connections available to destinations worldwide. A shuttle bus service from the airport meets every Airnorth flight for transfers to accommodation in Nhulunbuy at a cost of approximately $10.00 per person each way.

Access to Recreation Beaches and River Areas

To visit these areas on the Gove Peninsula you must first obtain a Visitor's Permit. Severe penalties apply for moving through the region without this official permit and visitors are asked to respect the wishes of the Traditional Owners in this regard. For permits contact Dhimurru Land Management Aboriginal Corporation: (08) 8987 3992 www.dhimurru.com.au/permits

Adventures In Culture

TIWI ISLANDS

Just 80 kilometres north of Darwin lie Bathurst and Melville Islands, known collectively as the Tiwi Islands. Europeans first made contact with the Tiwi people in 1705. Then, 119 years later, the British established a settlement which was the first in Northern Australia. This was at the short-lived Fort Dundas on Melville Island near where Pirlangimpi now stands.

You can visit the Tiwi Islands and experience life in a modern day Aboriginal community learning about the rich and fascinating history and culture of the Tiwi people on an organised tour. One day cultural tours are available as well as one day art tours to Bathurst Island. Visitors either board a small plane in Darwin for the short flight to the islands, or take a two hour ferry journey across the Timor Sea from Cullen Bay.

The Tiwi people are known around the world for their distinctive fabric prints, pottery, sculptures and carvings. There are several art galleries on both Melville and Bathurst Islands and visitors are more than welcome to purchase directly from the artists.

Tiwi people are coastal Aborigines with a culture different to those on the mainland. Their strong traditions, rituals and traditional foods are still a very important part of everyday life today and they appear to have successfully combined both traditional and modern lifestyles.

The Tiwi Islanders are also famous for their love of sports, in particular Australian Rules football. The Tiwi Football Grand Final and Art Sale is held in March and is the one time when you can visit the island without a permit.

Permits are only required if you intend to visit outside the main township of Wurrumiyanga, these permits are required before you travel to Tiwi Islands.

For information on tours to the Tiwi Islands contact Tourism Top End on 1300 138 886 or visit our website tourismtopend.com.au

KATHERINE & SURROUNDS

While its star attraction is undoubtedly the famous Nitmiluk National Park (Katherine Gorge), Katherine and its surrounds include great fishing, hidden natural wonders and a rich indigenous and pioneering history. The region stretches from the Gulf of Carpentaria to the West Australian border. Around 300 kilometres south of Darwin, Katherine is set on the banks of the Katherine River.

Katherine was named by explorer John McDouall Stuart in the late 1800s after the daughter of one of his expedition sponsors. The area was renamed 'Nitmiluk' - meaning 'cicada place' - in 1989 when traditional owners, the Jawoyn Aboriginal people, gained title to the land.

The Katherine River flows through 13 separate gorges that carve their way through the Arnhem Land Plateau. You can canoe or cruise between sheer cliffs to the sandy freshwater beaches of the main gorges, and view ancient Aboriginal rock paintings high on the rock faces. Waterfalls and rock pools are found along over 100 kilometres of walking tracks, beginning at the park's visitor centre.

Katherine offers a wide range of accommodation, facilities and attractions, including museums, art galleries, character-filled pubs and historic sites. Other attractions within easy reach of the town include the Cutta Cutta Caves Nature Park, the Katherine Springs and Leliyn (Edith Falls).

Attractions

Nitmiluk National Park (Katherine Gorge)

Just 32 kilometres from Katherine town centre on Gorge Road, the gorge is the major natural attraction in the area - a visitor's delight - 180,000 hectares of natural wonder. There are 13 gorges in the system, carved out of the rock by the torrential summer rains over millenia. Three of the gorges are readily accessible on an organised tour and boat cruise, alternatively visitors may prefer to hire a canoe, or take a trek. Stunning examples of Aboriginal rock art, many thousands of years old, are to be found within the gorge system. These art sites are amongst the most popular attractions of Nitmiluk National Park. Nitmiluk Gorge is the cultural and spiritual foundation for the first inhabitants of the area, the Jawoyn people, providing food and water for both their spiritual and recreational needs.

Leliyn (Edith Falls)

Located on the western boundary of Nitmiluk National Park, the paperbark and pandanus fringed natural pool at the base of the falls is safe for swimming throughout most of the year. The area is also great for bushwalking. Leliyn (Edith Falls) is the finishing point of the 62 kilometre Jatbula Trail, which begins at Nitmiluk National Park (Katherine Gorge) headquarters. Open daily - subject to weather conditions. Free entry. Camping available, fees apply.

Katherine Springs

Located just 5 minutes drive from the town centre on the banks of the Katherine River. This shady, spring-fed thermal creek is a popular swimming area. Please note: Access for wheelchairs is provided off Crocker Street (behind the Riverview Caravan Park). Restrictions: No Pets / No Camping.

Katherine Low Level Nature Reserve

The Low Level Nature Reserve, located just five kilometres from the town, is a popular picnic and fishing area for both locals and visitors to the town. The surrounding river banks, with their tall paperbark trees supporting a variety of birdlife, make for excellent picnic spots with gas BBQs, picnic tables, toilets and play facilities.

Cutta Cutta Caves

Located off the Stuart Highway 27 kilometres south of Katherine, Cutta Cutta Caves Nature Park covers an area of some 1,499 hectares. Ranger-guided tours of the cave system are conducted daily during the dry season. The caves are also home to the rare orange horseshoe bat and the ghost bat. The Jawoyn Aboriginal people have a long association with this area and evidence of their culture can be found throughout the park.

Katherine Museum

The Katherine Museum was originally constructed as an air terminal during WWII and now contains an eclectic collection of artefacts, photographs, maps and pioneer memorabilia in an informative display. Outdoor and undercover exhibits illustrate a rich heritage of ingenuity in rural machinery and household equipment. Entry fees apply.

Nitmiluk Visitor Centre

A stop in the Visitor Centre offers visitors the ideal opportunity to discover more about this magical and diverse National Park - to learn about the geology, the landscape, wildlife and native plants, and the history of the Aboriginal inhabitants of this fascinating area.

The centre boasts a Bush Tucker Garden, educational and interactive displays, souvenir and gift shop as well as restaurant terrace overlooking the Katherine River as it emerges from the gorge system.

Sabu Sing - The Katherine Icon

This magnificent one and a half times lifesize bronze statue, a project of the Northern Territory Cattleman's Association for 2002 - the Year of the Outback, was commissioned as an acknowledgement of our forebears, a salute to those who currently work on the land and to encourage others to cherish the challenges of the future. The role model for the statue is Sabu Peter Sing (1940-1993), A member of the Wardaman tribe, a skilled bushman, horseman and stockman, who represents our courageous pioneers and all who follow the trails they blazed. The work is the creation of Archie Sinclair, a former Alice Springs pastoralist and helicopter pilot, now based in the United States.

Katherine and Surrounds

Douglas and Daly River Region

Located midway between Darwin and Katherine off the Stuart Highway, the region is famous for its fishing and boasts hot springs, gorges, bushwalking and an abundance of wildlife. Also known as the Douglas Daly after its two major river systems, the region is a favourite spot for travellers looking to spend time camping, fishing, bushwalking and swimming.

Tjuwaliyn (Douglas) Hot Springs

Pine Creek

Established in the late 1800s, Pine Creek is located 92 kilometres north of Katherine. It is the Top End's only original mining town remaining from the 1870s gold rush era and is a treasure trove of heritage bush buildings and mining sites. Gold was discovered in 1871 by workers on the Overland Telegraph Line. Although small, the township offers a range of accommodation, including caravan parks and cabins. Many of the original buildings still stand. The National Trust Museum building is the oldest surviving prefabricated structure in the Northern Territory. Originally the home of the mining warden in Burrundie, it was later moved to Pine Creek and over the years served as a doctors residence, clinic, dispensary, military hospital, post office and exchange. Today it houses the National Trust Museum and town library. Browse through the building and its contents to gain an insight into the gold rush, local Chinese history, buffalo hunters and the Overland Telegraph. The Northern Goldfields Loop Heritage Trail taking you from Pine Creek to Adelaide River, offers a fascinating insight into life during the era.

Pine Creek - Enterprise Pit Mine Lookout

Mataranka

Mataranka township sits on the upper reaches of the Roper River, an hour's drive south-east of Katherine. The area was made famous in the Jeannie Gunn novel 'We of the Never Never' - written in 1908 about nearby Elsey Station. Attractions in the region include the Never Never Museum, Elsey Cemetery, Elsey Homestead replica, Elsey National Park, Bitter Springs and Mataranka Thermal Pool.

Daly Waters

The Daly Waters Pub is the quintessential outback watering hole famous for its bush hospitality, huge meals and quirky decorations on the walls. Daly Waters, 265 kilometres south of Katherine has the distinction of being Australia's first international airfield.

Borroloola and the Gulf Region

The Gulf Region is a popular area for fishing. There is a range of accommodation available at various places in the region and the many attractions to visit and explore. You can access the Gulf Region via the Savannah Way from Katherine or the Carpentaria Highway from the Hi-Way Inn on the Stuart Highway. Borroloola is a fully serviced town and as the region's popularity as a tourist destination grows, more and more visitors use Borroloola as a base for fishing expeditions further into the region. King Ash Bay, 42 kilometres from Borroloola, is a popular fishing spot, attracting thousands of visitors each year; and Cape Crawford is home to an impressive site known as the Lost City, dotted with towering sandstone formations. Helicopter flights touch down in the Lost City, giving access to the site.

Timber Creek and The Victoria River Region

Travelling west from Katherine lies the Victoria River Region, covering an expansive area of which Judbarra (Gregory) National Park covers approximately 13,000 square kilometres. Whether it's a 4x4 trek in the national park, nature watching, fishing and cruising the mighty Vic, hiking and bushwalking or scenic flying - the region offers an experience for you.

Larrimah and Dunmarra

Larrimah means 'meeting place' in the local Aboriginal language. It is a small town 185 kilometres south of Katherine along the Stuart Highway. While in town, stop and enjoy some local hospitality at the Larrimah Museum in the old telegraph building displaying information about World War II activities in the area, the Overland Telegraph Line and the operation of the railway. About 35 kilometres south of Dunmarra is a historic marker to Sir Charles Todd, builder of the Frew Ponds Overland Telegraph Line Memorial Reserve which commemorates the joining of the two ends of the line in 1872.
