WELCOME TO THE EAST KIMBERLEY

As Chair of MG Corporation, I extend visitors a warm welcome to Miriuwung and Gajerrong country. MG Corporation receives and manages the benefits transferred under the Ord Final Agreement to the Miriuwung and Gajerrong people, who are recognised under Australian law as holding native title over a determination area spanning almost 14,000 square kilometres of land in the East Kimberley region.

The area boasts a pioneering history and includes vast agricultural developments, Lake Argyle and its surrounds, pastoral interests and conservation land, as well as the Kununurra township itself. Traditional Miriuwung and Gajerrong interests also extend into portions of the Northern Territory.

Welcoming visitors to our land has been a part of MG culture for thousands of years, offering them safe passage and protection of their spiritual being throughout their journey. Miriuwung and Gajerrong people continue to manage and maintain these traditional protocols and proactively work to preserve and enhance MG language and culture. MG country has much to offer visitors, whether swimming in Lake Argyle or local springs, visiting some of the local art galleries, camping or hiking in the beautiful countryside, fishing in the Ord river, canoeing on Lake Kununurra, or hiking in some of our national parks and conservation areas. Once again, on behalf of Miriuwung and Gajerrong people as traditional custodians of the area, I welcome you to our country and hope that you enjoy your time in the East Kimberley.

TRAVEL TIPS

Cockburn Ranges, Gibb River Road. Tourism Western Australia

Travel Smart

You can never be too prepared, especially in the rugged East Kimberley. Protection from the sun lessens the possibility of sunburn and dehydration. It is advisable to wear the appropriate clothing, hat and sunscreen and always drink plenty of water. Mosquitoes can carry Ross River virus and Encephalitis. Covering up and using an insect repellent will minimise the risk of these bites. When camping, use a fly screened tent or mosquito net.

Driving

The East Kimberley can be unforgiving, if unprepared. It is advised you take the relevant precautions to keep you and your loved ones safe whilst on the road. Be aware that from dusk until dawn, many animals (wallabies, kangaroos, cattle, horses etc.) are more active and can stray onto the roads from unfenced farms. 4WD vehicles are recommended on all unsealed/gravel roads. Always check with local authorities for the current road conditions before you depart. Take spare tyres, food and water. Road trains can be 50m long, please be cautious when looking to overtake them as it can take some time.

Bush walking

It is advisable to always notify someone if you intend to undertake some bushwalking into more remote areas. Inform them of your departure time, destination and expected return time. Always carry sufficient water in case of any emergency.

Snakes

All snakes are protected species and should be left alone. Most snake bites occur when people disturb or try to touch them.

BE CROCWISE

FACT

Estuarine crocodiles can be found over 200km from the coast in freshwater habitats (rivers and billabongs).

FACT

An Estuarine Crocodile can attack in less than a second.

FACT

Estuarine Crocodiles are extremely sensitive to sound and vibrations, noise from a boat is likely to attract them.

Crocodiles

There are two main species of crocodiles found in the East Kimberley; the estuarine or saltwater crocodile (known as 'salties') and the Johnson freshwater crocodile (known as 'freshies'). Salties are extremely territorial animals; they are considered to be the most dangerous and can grow up to seven metres in length. However, all crocodiles are potentially dangerous. Always observe warning signs and if in doubt don't swim, canoe or use small boats in estuaries, tidal rivers and deep pools.

Fires

Please ensure all fires are confined to appropriate fireplaces, are extinguished upon departure and always remember – BUSHFIRES KILL!

Flood and Cyclones

Cyclone season is generally between November and April. Please listen carefully to any cyclone alerts provided on radio or television stations to keep yourself and your loved ones safe. Alerts in the region can be found via www.bom.gov.au or www.fesa.wa.gov.au.

Cane Toads

When handling cane toads make sure you use gloves or a plastic bag. In Kununurra, you can drop cane toads off at the Kimberley Vet Centre and DBCA Parks & Wildlife service office.

Quarantine Aware

Western Australia is free from many of the insect or animal pests, plant and animal diseases and weeds which are present elsewhere in Australia, therefore there are strict quarantine laws on what can be brought into WA. If you are unsure then declare it, there are large penalties in place for those caught. For more information please visit www.agric.wa.gov.au

Travelling during the Wet Season

Seven Golden Rules for Prospecting

- 1. Put safety first
 - Make sure you have enough water, fuel, maps and first aid supplies.

- 2. Obtain a Miner's Right permit when prospecting on vacant Crown land.
- 3. Obtain a 40E permit prior to prospecting within an exploration tenement (if you don't have written permission from the tenement holder).
- 4. Get written permission from the tenement holder when prospecting on:
 - a mining lease;
 - an exploration licence (if you don't have a 40E permit); or
 - a prospecting licence.
- 5. Comply with all legal requirements when prospecting on a pastoral lease. You cannot prospect within 100 metres of any occupied building or within 400 metres of any livestock watering point without the consent of the pastoralist.
- 6. Show respect when on Crown land because it is used by other people or set aside for many purposes.
- 7. Fill any holes that you dug and repair ground that has been disturbed.

ORD RIVER IRRIGATION AREA (ORIA)

One of the most spectacular and important features of the East Kimberley is the Ord River Irrigation Area (ORIA).

Located in the East Kimberley region of Western Australia's far north ORIA was the product of a bold and imaginative plan to develop part of the nation's tropical north for intensive agriculture by harnessing the waters of the Ord River. The ORIA is the realisation of a dream held by Kimberley Durack, grandson of the famous Durack pioneers. He believed the rich soils of the river flats along the Ord would be ideal for an extensive irrigation scheme and was instrumental in establishing the first experimental plots in 1941. This led to the development of the Kimberley Research Station on Ivanhoe Plains in 1946.

The Kununurra area's unique agriculture and horticulture is unmatched by any other growing region in Australia. What sets it apart is an abundant supply of reasonably priced land and water and an excellent climate.

Since their discovery in the late 1870's by Alexander and John Forrest, the fertile alluvial plains of the lower reaches of the Ord River have lured pastoralists and farmers to the East Kimberley.

Around 25,000 hectares in size, the ORIA lies north and south of Kununurra with the dominant crops being melons, mangoes, pumpkins, sandalwood and seeds.

ORIA Calendar of Development

1879	Alexander Forrest, explorer, names Kimberley district and Ord River and makes a diary note related to the Ord area – “an extent of country equal to about 25 million acres has been opened up for pastoral and agricultural settlement”.

1886	Durack Family arrive with cattle following epic droving trip from Queensland
1928	Frank Wise, agricultural advisor, visits area

1946	Kimberley Research Station developed
1962	First farmer settlers arrive
1963	Diversion Dam construction completed
1972	Lake Argyle Dam completed
1974	Dominant crop of cotton ceases production
1974-80	Diversification into sorghum, peanuts and rice
1985	Research Station renamed Frank Wise RS
1987	Trial plots of sandalwood established
1990-06	Dominant crops are sugar, mangoes, melons and pumpkins
1996	First commercial sandalwood crops established
2007	Sugar cane production ceases
2007	Dominant crop is sandalwood

2009-10	Cotton, rice and wheat trials. One of the largest producers of Chia in Australia
2001-12	Ord Stage 2 in full development
2013	Ord Stage 2 completed. Lease granted to Kimberley Agricultural Investments KAI
2014	First crop planted (Chia) by KAI on the new Goomig farm lands
2017	KAI acquires the Carlton Hill and Ivanhoe pastoral leases and freehold
2018	An extensive 3 year trial of late wet season cotton comes to an end

ORIA Facts

- Agricultural returns approximately $100 million per annum to the area
- The Ord River Irrigation Area is currently made up of the following farm districts:
 - Ivanhoe Valley - 15,000 ha (known as Ord Stage 1)
 - Goomig - 7,400ha (known locally as part of Ord Stage 2)
 - Packsaddle Plain - 3,000ha (mixed farming)

Today, ORIA successfully produces the following:

- Our most widely grown crop is Indian sandalwood. We also grow seeds and pulses, maize, chickpeas, borlotti beans, sorghum, hybrid bird seed and sunflowers.
- Rockmelon and watermelon.
- Citrus fruits such as lime and grapefruit.
- Mangoes, bananas, paw paw and other exotic tropical fruits. Harvested vegetables include squash, zucchini, pumpkin, corn and green beans.
- Trial crops such as cotton, rice, wheat, sugar cane and soybeans have also been planted at different stages.

Kununurra

Kununurra is a relatively new town that was established in 1961 as a service centre for the Ord River Irrigation scheme after the success of the first stage and lots of investment. The name Kununurra comes from the Miriuwung word 'Goonoonoorrang', which translates to 'meeting of big waters'.

Initially, Kununurra sustained a population of 400 people. Today, Kununurra has a transient population that ranges from around 7,000 to more than 14,000 during the dry season. This number is set to increase as the area becomes more important with further investment into the Ord River Irrigation Area.

Agriculture is one of the biggest industries in Kununurra.

Tourism is, unsurprisingly, a major employer for the town and region, with visitors coming from around the world to see the wonders of 'Australia's last frontier'. Whether arriving by plane, car, coach or bike the Kimberley creates lifelong memories for all.

Wyndham

Wyndham was gazetted in 1886, to service the Halls Creek gold fields and the outlying cattle stations. Its northerly position in the state means it is known geographically and affectionately as the 'Top Town of the West'.

Wyndham Port was established in the 1880s and is still a busy departure point for ships carrying cattle, minerals and agricultural produce. Many tourist cruise ships also stop here during their trips along the stunning northern coastline of Western Australia and the Northern Territory.

Wyndham's three cemeteries bear testimony to those early settlers of the 19th century, including Afghan cameleers and gold miners. The establishment of a meatworks in Wyndham in 1919 was a major employer for the region, until its closure in 1985. The rich Aboriginal history of the area, survival stories of explorers and the shock attack by 8 Japanese aircraft during World War 2 can all be learned about at the excellent Historical Society.

See page 21 for some of Wyndham's other highlights, including what many believe to be the 'best lookout in Australia'.

Located on the banks of Lake Kununurra, Swim Beach is a popular spot for locals and visitors to enjoy a BBQ, take a walk and go for a swim. Dogs are also allowed.

Mirima National Park

Also known as Hidden Valley or the mini Bungle Bungles, Mirima boasts fascinating rock formations that have taken shape over the past 350 million years. The park is home to three small walking trails, and plenty of local flora and fauna.

Cockburn Range. Tourism Western Australia

Diversion Dam

The Dam was the first stage in the construction of the Ord Irrigation Scheme and was completed in 1963. The Diversion Dam comprises 20 radial gates that are raised or lowered to regulate the water level of Lake Kununurra, primarily to maintain water flow to the irrigation area and also to manage wet season flood levels. The dam crosses over the Victoria Highway. For the best view of the dam, pull into Lions Park Picnic Area. It's a great place to take a few photos, launch your boat or just have a picnic. Please be crocodile aware and definitely NO SWIMMING.

Elephant Rock/Sleeping Buddha

This large rock formation is located just out of Kununurra and is named after 2 unique rock features. From one angle, at Celebrity Tree Park, it appears as a Buddha in repose and from a southern angle, an elephant head is definable.

Ivanhoe Crossing

This concrete causeway was constructed as part of the original road from Wyndham to Katherine in the NT. Due to varying water levels, please check with Kununurra Visitor Centre or Shire of Wyndham East Kimberley on road closures. Fishing is a favourite pastime around the Crossing but please be crocodile aware and definitely NO SWIMMING.

This old road to Wyndham (approx. 100kms) takes you through some spectacular country, ranges and savannah lands. The back road to Wyndham, as locals know it, follows the Lower Ord River part of the way offering easy access into parts of the river for fishing and camping.

Valentine Spring, Middle Spring and Black Rock Falls (4WD only)

During early post wet season, these areas show off spectacular waterfalls and cool waterholes. Accessible via Parry Creek Road.

Mambi Island Boat ramp

Located along Parry Creek Road, Mambi Island Boat ramp provides access to the Lower Ord River. Saltwater crocodiles present in this area.

Old Halls Creek Road

Built about 1894 to provide access for those travelling from Wyndham to Halls Creek following the discovery of gold in 1885. The road features hand laid pavement stones that can still be seen today.

Parry Lagoons Nature Reserve

RAMSAR Nature reserve that includes Marlgu Billabong. Caution Saltwater Crocodiles are found in this area.

Telegraph Hill

Located off the Parry Creek Road, this vantage point provides wide vistas of the flood plains and distant ranges. Take time to explore the ruins of the old Telegraph Station built in 1914, which assisted shipping activities using the Wyndham Port during World War I. A shaded picnic area was installed in 2019.

Marlgu Billabong

A boardwalk and shaded bird hide have been constructed over a billabong within the Parry Lagoon Nature Reserve. A birdwatcher's paradise but be aware of Saltwater crocodiles in this area.

OFF THE GREAT NORTHERN HIGHWAY

King River Road (4WD only)

Commencing just south of Wyndham the King River Road ends at the Karunjie Track.

Moochalabra Dam (4WD only)

This dam was constructed in 1971 to provide the Wyndham area with a water supply. The spillway forms a spectacular waterfall during the wet season.

Aboriginal Rock Art Paintings (4WD only)

Located close to Moochalabra Dam, these rock paintings show Wandjina Spirit ancestors and animals, all painted in natural ochres.

Five Rivers Lookout, Bastion Ranges. @ visitkununurra

Prison Tree (4WD only)

This great example of a Kimberley Boab is near the King River Road. It was used by the early police patrols as an overnight lockup.

WYNDHAM

Crocodile Statue

This 20-metre-long statue is the first introduction and welcome to visitors to the town. Its construction includes 5.5 kilometres of steel rods, 50kg of welding rods, 10 rolls of bird wire and 5 cubic metres of concrete.

Five Rivers Lookout/ Bastion Ranges

At 330 metres above sea level the Daharwi Range or Bastion Range provides a spectacular backdrop to Wyndham. Identify the five rivers that flow into the Cambridge Gulf (King, Ord, Durack, Forrest and Pentecost) or just take in the stunning views over the surrounding mudflats and ranges. A great place to catch a Kimberley sunset.

Three Mile Valley Walking Trail

Located at the base of the Bastion Range are the 2 walk trails of Three Mile Valley. One follows the Three Mile Valley Creek and the other heads past the Bastion Ranges for some spectacular views of the surrounding landscape.

Wyndham Port

Founded in 1885 the historic port area still plays an integral part in the pastoral, mining and tourism industries. Historic buildings still stand as testament to the early days of Wyndham Port including the Wyndham Museum. As the wharf is a working area, public access is denied onto the wharf and its surrounds.

Wyndham Community Recreational Fishing Jetty

Opened in 2012, the new jetty is a publicly accessible all-tides jetty that provides unrestricted access for locals, visitors and small craft wishing to engage in recreational fishing.

Wyndham Museum

Located in the old Courthouse building in the port area, it contains fascinating memorabilia, journal records and photographic displays of Wyndham throughout its colourful past.

Anthon's Landing

Site of the original wharf built in the 1880's. The wharf remains can still be seen at a low tide.

SLEEP

The East Kimberley offers a great range of accommodation to suit all types of visitors and at very different price points. Options span across the whole area from Kununurra at the heart, to the port town of Wyndham, the magnificent unique retreats on the coast of the Timor Sea and into the expanse of the outback including the Gibb River Road, Purnululu, Mitchell Plateau and last but not least, Lake Argyle.

El Questro Wilderness Park. Tourism Western Australia

Camping/Caravan Parks

The East Kimberley is a great place to experience camping out under the stars. The dry season days are cooler and allow for fantastic walks into some spectacular country, and the nights are just made for a good night's sleep out in the bush. Pack up the swag and get out into the vast Kimberley, it's just begging to be explored.

The following information is provided to advise travellers of a few good camping out tips on how to make your overnight stay in the bush more enjoyable, not only for you, but for the next visitor also:

- Respect private property and Aboriginal land – seek permission before entering or camping and leave gates as you found them.
- Remember, all land belongs to someone.
- Observe fire restrictions and take care with fire at all times. Campfires can only be lit in designated fireplaces and it is advisable to use fuel type stoves where possible. All fires should be fully extinguished prior to leaving the site.
- Avoid contaminating creeks and waterways with soaps and sunscreens.
- Admire and photograph plants and animals but leave them to themselves.

- Please dispose of your litter and rubbish – where there are not rubbish bins, take your rubbish with you.
- Show consideration for fellow campers, please bury all human waste and toilet paper deeply.
- Help prevent the spread of weeds by removing prickles and burrs from clothing, pets and camping gear and disposing of them appropriately.
- Please endeavour to make the least amount of impact on the area in which you camp. The cutting down of any trees is prohibited.

Hotels/Resorts

If you are travelling by car or plane or looking for a more luxurious stay, there are three and four star accommodation providers offering you a real 'home-away from-home' experience, and a chance to really spoil yourselves in the heart of the Kimberley.

For a better understanding of where the accommodation providers are, please refer to the map later in the guide. For a full list of accommodation providers please visit our website visitkununurra.com or come and see us when you get to town.

Ngarranggarni Barramundi

Dreaming Stories

Jaliwang Ngarranggarni (Miriuwung)

A barramundi lives in the river at Tharram (Bandicoot Bar).

One day a crane fishing for food sees the barramundi and spears it with her beak, but is unable to catch it as the barramundi swims quickly away.

The barramundi travels up the Dunham River, past where the Worrworrurn community is today, and on to Glen Hill where she scrapes off some of her scales as she passes through.

Today, these scales can be seen near the Glen Hill community's first gate as white rock on the hillside, most clearly visible in the late afternoon.

Here the barramundi is spotted by some women who try to catch her using nets made of rolled Spinifex grass (a traditional Miriuwung fishing method known as Gelganyem).

But the barramundi flicks her tail and jumps over the trap. She escapes between the two hills of Barramundi Gap (Argyle Diamond Mine) and heads down to Bow River, where she comes to rest as a white rock. This rock, which can still be seen today, is quite different from all the others at Bow River.

ART & CULTURE

Kimberley Aboriginal People

"Aboriginal people are connected to the land through our culture, law and dreaming. We have a responsibility to look after our land, just as it looks after us. Our country connects our people to the past, present and future" – Kevin George – Bardi Jawi Cultural Ranger.

Kimberley Aboriginal people are part of the oldest continuous culture in the world, dating back more than 50,000 years.

The cultural values and traditions of Kimberley Aboriginal people are vibrant and strong. They are embedded in the land through stories about the creation of country often referred to by non-Aboriginal people as the 'Dreaming'.

The Kimberley is a living landscape and the relationship between Aboriginal people and country is one of mutual respect and benefit.

Renowned for its vibrant colours, remarkable landscape and unique biodiversity, the Kimberley is home to some of Australia's priority biodiversity hotspots. It is also of outstanding importance to the nation and as such has been National Heritage Listed for its Indigenous cultural and natural values. The Indigenous nation has played an instrumental role in preserving, managing and enhancing the natural living environment.

The Kimberley is a significant Aboriginal place that holds an energy found nowhere else in the world.

Kimberley Ranger Network

The Kimberley Ranger Network is facilitated by the Kimberley Land Council (KLC) and supported by the Australian Government. It works to realise Indigenous aspirations to look after country while providing real jobs, training and education, as well as improving socioeconomic standards and community wellbeing.

The Kimberley Ranger Network is a grass-roots initiative that encourages nation building, as elders work with rangers and young people to pass on traditional knowledge of looking after country while enhancing law, language and culture.

Kimberley Aboriginal people have declared a corridor of Indigenous Protected Areas – highly sensitive areas with important biodiversity values across the coast and deep into the heart of the Kimberley. The corridor is one of the largest Indigenous conservation areas in Australia and is providing opportunities to create ecosystem based business enterprises while protecting culture. The KLC facilitates 14 ranger groups that employ more than 100 Aboriginal rangers, elders and associated staff who look after land and sea country. Ranger activities can include fire management, feral species monitoring and eradication, research, water monitoring, rock art and cultural heritage management, climate change strategies, coastal monitoring and biodiversity surveys.

The Kimberley Ranger Network is not only achieving environmental success but generates positive social benefits that are far and wide reaching. The Kimberley is a big place, but you might just see the rangers in your travels. Make sure you keep an eye out and say hello.

Kimberley Rock Art

“Rock Art is like our library in the bush. When we find painted fingerprints and footprints, it tells us who the people were for that country. A painting of animals tells you what food you can find there. Paintings can warn us of danger too” – Jason Adams, Uunguu Ranger

The dynamic rock art of the Kimberley provides an amazing visual insight into ancient Aboriginal culture. The region is famous for its Wandjina and Gwion Gwion (Bradshaw) rock art that depicts spirit figures that have been painted on rocks and caves across the north Kimberley.

Rock art in the Kimberley is part of a dynamic, living culture that connects people, country and everything within it.

All rock art sites are protected under law and it is an offence to damage or interfere with any art sites. Kimberley Aboriginal people hope you enjoy the magic of the Kimberley but ask that you respect cultural places and rock art sites and follow all signs outlining where it is safe and not safe to visit.

ART AT THE HEART

The East Kimberley is blessed with superb landscapes and dramatic weather, as well as thousands of years of Aboriginal history. Many artists have lived or chosen to base themselves here, and interpreted this wonderful region into their artworks, sculptures, photography, jewellery, ceramics and more. Art really is at the heart of the Kimberley.

Spend time in Kununurra's 3 beautiful art galleries, Artlandish, Waringarri Arts and Artopia, which have permanent displays as well as new exhibitions featuring locally based and internationally renowned artists. From Aboriginal paintings of the Wandjina dream spirits, to contemporary landscapes painted with real gold and diamonds, paintings of wildlife so accurate you would swear they are photographs and the chance to see some of our Aboriginal artists at work, this is a day out in itself for the art lover.

Looking for other memories of the Kimberley? Try Birdland, Penney's Prints, Walkabout Souvenirs and the Chikshed for unique and delightful handmade pottery, jewellery, photography as well as cards, candles and other gifts.

Of course, the Pink Diamond is a stunning sight on its own, but Kununurra's two jewellers, Kimberley Fine Diamonds and Nina's, have created truly stunning pieces featuring the diamonds, as well as gold, silver and other materials. It costs nothing to browse and the staff here will be happy to show you some of the region's gems. With the Diamond Mine closing in 2020 it might be a good investment!

Have you heard of Zebra Rock? Only found within a small radius of Kununurra, this rock naturally forms in beautiful bands that explain the name. Visit our town's 2 galleries; Kimberley Ornamental Stonecraft and Rockalong, to see the stunning jewellery and ornaments made from this unique Kimberley stone.

Pop into the Visitor Centre for a local map to help you find your way to these beautiful places.

LAKE KUNUNURRA & LAKE ARGYLE

Lake Kununurra. © kununurrapixels

The Ord River was once the fastest flowing river in Australia. It was harnessed by the construction of two dams in 1963 and 1971 to develop the agricultural industry in the Ord Valley. The damming of the Ord created two of the most spectacular lakes in Australia - Lake Argyle and Lake Kununurra.

Lake Kununurra

You wouldn't want to visit Kununurra without taking a trip up the 55km stretch of river from Kununurra to Lake Argyle. This section of the Ord River is referred to as Lake Kununurra or the Upper Ord. Lake Kununurra is a man-made reservoir that was formed after the completion of the Diversion Dam in 1962. It harbours a large variety of flora and fauna, forms wetland areas, and provides a water frontage to Kununurra. As you wind upriver you will not be disappointed with the amount of wildlife on offer, including crocodiles, sea eagles, kingfishers, bats and more! At the end of the 55km stretch, the Ord Top Dam separates Lake Kununurra and Lake Argyle.

Lake Argyle

Located just 70km south of Kununurra lies Lake Argyle, the largest reservoir of fresh water in Australia and one of the most spectacular scenic locations in the East Kimberley. Lake Argyle was created by damming the Ord River (1973) and forms a storage reservoir for the Ord Irrigation area. The result is a massive expanse of freshwater equivalent to 19 Sydney harbours on average. Lake Argyle features many bays, inlets and islands and provides spectacular views either at water level or from the air.

Lake Argyle. Tourism Western Australia

Lake Argyle is a unique ecosystem, home to an amazing array of wildlife including 25,000 freshwater crocodiles, 26 species of native fish, 90 islands which are home to various marsupials and reptiles and approximately one third of Australia's bird species which at times can number in the tens of thousands.

Lake Argyle is designated as a RAMSAR wetland of International Significance.

What to do:

There is an adventure for everyone on Lake Argyle and Lake Kununurra. You can experience an awe-inspiring scenic cruise on either of these lakes, which is one of the most popular attractions in Kununurra.

A cruise on Lake Kununurra will get you up to speed on the amazing scenery and wildlife, including freshwater crocodiles, eagles and the elusive kingfisher. For the more adventurous traveller, opt for a self-guided canoe of the lakes over 1, 2 or 3 days and marvel at the views and wildlife in your own time.

A cruise of Lake Argyle's shoreline and islands will give you close encounters with an incredible variety of native fauna, from freshwater crocodiles, fish and wallabies to more than 240 species of birds. The sunset cruises are particularly memorable, as you get into the beautiful soft water with a glass of fizz, and push trays of nibbles between you and your fellow travellers while watching the sun set over the ranges.

Alternatively, take an evening in the slow lane and soak up a Kimberley sunset with the Lake Kununurra Sunset Cruise, the perfect way to enjoy great local food and relax after a day exploring the spectacular East Kimberley region. Scenic flights also operate between Kununurra and Lake Argyle, which will give you an unrivalled view of Lake Argyle.

Both Lake Argyle and Lake Kununurra are also great spots for keen anglers. Locals and visitors utilise the lakes as water-sports playgrounds, and calm weather makes both of these locations a water skier's dream! The Kununurra Ski Club also hosts a Dam to Dam dinghy race on Lake Kununurra every year.

If you'd like to learn more about Lake Kununurra or Lake Argyle, including information about tours and accommodation, get in touch with the Kununurra Visitor Centre.

Bungle Bungle Range. Tourism Western Australia

THE BUNGLE BUNGLE RANGE

The Bungle Bungle Range is an astonishing formation of beehive-shaped sandstone domes, situated in Purnululu National Park. Purnululu is one of only 20 UNESCO listed World Heritage Sites in Australia.

Atmospheric, breathtaking and unforgettable, walk amongst the 250-metre-high domes and marvel at the changing colours of the rocks during the day. Long known by the Gija people of the East Kimberley, it wasn't 'discovered' by Europeans until 1983 when a film crew saw it from the air. A short flight from Kununurra, or a 300km drive (see 'access' section below) makes this jewel of the Kimberley easily accessible for today's visitors.

There are several walks within the park of varying length and difficulty, all of which are sure to delight. Choose to join up with a guide and really learn about how the land was used by the locals many years ago. You will learn about Aboriginal art, spinifex plants and their many uses, the intricacy of termite colonies and much more.

As well as enjoying the 360 million-year-old domes, things not to miss in Purnululu include Cathedral Gorge, a natural amphitheatre which amplifies every sound; Echidna Chasm with its winding path through two massive rock formations; Piccanniny Creek one of the longer but rewarding walks; and stunning views over the Tanami Desert.

Purnululu deserves at least two days of your time, and there are a great range of options to spend the night, from caravanning, pitching a tent at the Parks and Wildlife campgrounds or for a taste of luxury, choose from the two resorts inside the Park. For those unable to drive in themselves, the Caravan Park at the Highway turnoff offers coach tours into the Park.

Feeling adventurous? Book a helicopter flight to see this unique landscape from above.

Tourism Western Australia

FISHING

When it comes to recreational fishing, the vast coastline of the East Kimberley with its many rivers and estuaries, provides a valuable habitat that is home to an incredible fisher resource.

Just one of the target species is the fabled Barramundi; 'catching a Barra' is what many visitors to our region dream of. To ensure the sustainability of fish stocks please remember the following:

- Barramundi have a legal-size limit between 55-80cm throughout Western Australia
- There is a state-wide bag limit of 2 barramundi and an overall possession limit of 2 barramundi per angler
- All barramundi start life as male fish and depending upon habitat and food source change to female fish at about 80cm
- Barramundi may only be caught by means of a rod and reel or hand line
- When handling your catch always cradle the fish with wet hands under the belly. Don't hold a fish by the lower jaw and always support the fish's weight
- When measuring fish lay them on a wet smooth surface

The tidal waterways are also home to the highly sought-after mud crab, a delicacy on anyone's plate. Two types of 'muddies' are found in the region, the Green Mud Crab and the Brown Mud Crab. Size, bag and capture restrictions apply.

Please be aware that bag and size limits apply to most target species for offshore fishing along our coastline. For more information visit www.fish.wa.gov.au

- A recreational license is required if using a throw net and fishing from a boat
- Treat all fish humanely
- Abide by all fishing regulations
- Use only legally approved tackle
- Bring all your rubbish home
- Fish for the future

Did you know?

Barramundi have been recorded up to 150cm long and with weights in excess of 40kg, are thought to live up to around 20 years of age. Large females can produce 32 million eggs in a season.

Walk trails and camping areas are provided in most parks. For your safety please stay on marked trails and only camp in dedicated camp sites. Please also be advised that no pets are permitted within National Parks in the Kimberley Region

It is one of the most biologically important areas in the Kimberley. The landscape around the laterite-capped plateau varies from mangroves and wetlands, to woodlands and lush rainforest pockets. The area has a rich diversity of wildlife, with many rare animals, such as the Monjon (Australia's smallest rock wallaby) and the black grass wren.

The area contains many Aboriginal cultural heritage sites and features fine examples of the various forms of rock art.

Wolfe Creek Crater. Tourism Western Australia

Wolfe Creek Crater

On the edge of the Great Sandy Desert and the extensive spinifex grasslands of the East Kimberley lies the Wolfe Creek meteorite crater, the second largest crater in the world from which fragments of a meteorite have been collected. The crater is 880 metres across and almost circular. Today, the floor is about 60 metres below the rim, and is generally flat, but rises slightly in the centre. The porous gypsum found in this central area supports reasonably large trees and contains a number of sinkholes that may reflect the position of stress fractures formed by the impact from the meteorite.

Although it has long been known to Aboriginal people, who called it Kandimalal, the Wolfe Creek meteorite crater was only discovered by Europeans in 1947, during an aerial survey. The Aboriginal Dreaming tells of two rainbow snakes who formed the nearby Sturt and Wolfe Creeks as they crossed the desert.

Access

Wolfe Creek Meteorite Crater National Park is situated approximately 152km by road south of Halls Creek along the Tanami Road. When travelling to Wolfe Creek be prepared for unsealed roads, it is always recommended to travel in a 4WD vehicle due to the corrugations. Contact the Halls Creek Visitor Centre for up to date road conditions before travelling.

Facilities

There is a Department of Biodiversity, Conservation and Attractions campsite with basic toilets, however you need to be totally self sufficient for all your supplies. Please note there is no water available.

ARGYLE HOMESTEAD MUSEUM

#visitkununurra

Argyle Downs Station was established in 1886 when Patrick (Patsy) Durack sent his eldest sons Michael Patrick (MP) and John Wallace (JW) from Queensland to set up the station.

Patsy Durack arrived in 1887 to help his sons and his wife Mary arrived in 1889 after a financial disaster left his Queensland interests in ruin. Mary died at Argyle from malaria on 24th January 1893.

Grieving over the loss of his wife, Patsy built a new homestead from handcrafted limestone blocks with crushed termite mounds as mortar and wide verandas paved with flat riverbed stones. This was a magnificent building for its time. Patsy Durack died on 24th January 1898, exactly 5 years to the day after his beloved wife.

In 1969 it was suggested that the fine, old, historically significant homestead should be preserved for posterity before the waters backing up behind the Ord Dam to form Lake Argyle inundated the property. Work began on dismantling the homestead for storage prior to reconstruction and it was estimated it would take two wet seasons from the completion of the dam to submerge the vacant homestead.

Unexpected heavy rain caught everyone by surprise and by January 1972 much of the valley was submerged. While much of value at the original site had to be abandoned to the waters, the Homestead building as well as gravestones and plaques were rescued.

The stones taken from the old homestead were numbered for reassembly in its original position and remained in storage in Kununurra awaiting funding. A grant for $98,330 was received from the Federal Government and $30,000 from the WA Government. Reconstruction work began 16kms from the original site on a hilltop above the shores of Lake Argyle.

The museum homestead is estimated to be about 85% true to the original building with its wide verandas and doors on opposite sides allowing cool breezes to blow through from any direction, and a gun barrel hallway which funnels air through.

The Argyle Homestead Museum was officially opened on the 23rd of June 1979 and the key to the front door presented to Dame Mary Durack, granddaughter of Patsy and Mary.

Treasured items have been donated to the museum by Durack family members, and period furniture, articles, equipment and photographs have been gathered and assembled for display.

The Argyle Homestead Museum is managed by the Kununurra Visitor Centre with caretakers in residence from April to September. A small fee is payable upon entry during April to September to help maintain this legacy to Patrick Durack and his family.

The book 'The Duracks of Argyle' written by Dame Mary Durack's daughter Patsy Millett is available exclusively at the Argyle Homestead Museum and the Kununurra Visitor Centre.
