

Steepled in history, country charm and hospitality, Branxton and Greta are the northern gateways to the Hunter Valley. A beautiful little corner of the valley and a chance to explore the heritage, culture and some of Australia's winemaking origins.

Follow in the footsteps of early pioneers along the convict-built Great North Road and you will find a heady mix of rugged National Parks, quaint villages, boutique wines and a lively arts scene.

The winding country roads of Lovedale just east of Pokolbin are home to small, boutique cellar doors where you can meet the owners and hear first-hand about their unique pocket of the Hunter Valley, their produce and their passion for Hunter Valley wine.

In the north-west area of the Broken Creek, a peaceful pocket of the Hunter Valley, is just a 20-minute drive north of Pokolbin. The area is home to the largest organic vineyard in the Hunter, a hatted restaurant, stunning scenery, sprawling olive groves and hands-on, award-winning winemakers.

Set the GPS to find Mount View Road – the road that weaves up the mountain and along the way you will discover exquisite views, terraced vineyards and a array of family-owned cellar doors.

Lying at the foothills of the Brokenback Range in the southern part of the valley, Pokolbin is the heart of the Hunter Valley. Taste wines at renowned and established wineries from some of the oldest vines in Australia.

Heritage trail boasts some of the best scenery and most awarded boutique wineries in the Hunter, a chef's hatted restaurant, stunning scenery, sprawling olive groves and hands-on, award-winning winemakers.

Perfect views galore as you pedal the dedicated cycleway that links more than a dozen award-winning wineries.
